THE AGREEMENT IS LEGAL.

DECISION IN PAYOR OF THE JOINT TRAFFIC ASSOCIATION.

Judge Wheeler Says that the Entironds Have Not Violated the Inter-State Commerce Laws He Dismisses the Com-plaint of the U. S. District Attorney. Judge Hoyt H. Wheeler of the United States Circuit Court handed down a decision yesterday dismissing the bill of complaint in the suit in equity of the United States against the Joint Traffic Association. Judge Wheeler begins his decision with a recital of the clauses of the Inter-State Commerce act alleged to have been violated, and quotes the sections of the agree ment between the railroads referring to rates and the method adopted by the parties to the agreement for their maintenance. He then

This bill is brought at the request of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, under the di-rection of the Attorney-General, by the District. Attorney of the United States for this district against this agreement, as made, without counting upon any statutes, or alleging anything actually done under it to be of itself unlawful otherwise than because so done. The answer denies, as a conclusion, any illegality within or under the agreement: and, as a matter of fact, anything unlawful outside of or beyond it. The case has been heard upon the bill and answer, and so is made to turn upon the question of the legality or illegality of the contract, and upon the right of the United States as plaintiff to maintain this suit if it is illegal. The provisions of the contract stated are understood to be the ones challenged as being contrary to the statute

The Restraint and Monopoly act expressly authorizes such a proceeding in equity as this to prevent its violation, and this suit is well maintained if this contract is within it. Railroads are not expressly named in this act, and are said in argument not to be within its terms. No one is so named; but it applies to all contracts and combinations in restraint of trade or commerce among the States. Railroads do not trade among the States, but they carry for those who do; and what would restrain their so carrying would seem to be a restraint of such so carrying would seem to be a restraint of such considerce.

"These provisions of the contract do not provide for lessening the number of carriers or their facilities, nor for raising their rates, except expressly by its terms not contrary to law, and therefore not beyond what are reasonable. The linter-State Commerce law, section 1, requires all rates to be reasonable, and the making of reasonable and lawful rates upon carriage in any traffic cannot be any restraint in law upon such traffic. The soliciting of custom is no part of the duty of common carriers, and dispensing with soliciting agents or with the control of them cannot be lilegal, nor an agreement to do so be an illegal contract. A sthic case rests wholly upon the contract as made, and not anything actually done undercolor of or beyond it, and each road is left by it to carry on its busirests wholly upon the contract as made, and not anything actually done under color of or beyond it, and each road is left by it to carry on its business within lawful limits as before, no unlawful restraint of commerce seems to be provided for by it; and no ground for relief under that statute of 1890 is made out.

"No provision is made by the Inter-State Commerce law for enforcing its provision in equity, except to carry out orders of the Commission; and authority for this suit to restrain any violation of that law must appear otherwise or fail. That Governments and States excercising general municipal control over the people, their property, their rights, and their convenience, may, by their law officers, maintain suits in equity to restrain actual nulsances to ways, parks, commons, and the like, which are injurious to the common rights of all to their enjoyment, is not to be questioned. The United States Government is limited in such control te such particular subjects as are committed to it, which include, of course, finter-State and foreign commerce, carrying the mails, and such. These railroads are not Federal instruments, aithough they may be and probably are engaged in the lusiness of and are within the control of the laws of the Government to some extent. As so engaged, no nuisance would be Federal till it should become actual by obstructing these functions.

"This contract, if illegal, is intangible, and is functions.

"This contract, if illegal, is intangible, and is not alleged, or claimed, to have obstructed the roads for Government purposes in any manner not alleged, or claimed, to have obstructed the roads for Government purposes in any manner whatever.

"The United States may maintain a bill in equity to repeal a patent for land or a patent for an invention, and a state to protect its interest in components of the soil under its navigable waters or to prevent abuse of charters granted by it, because of the interest in the property as proprietor, or in the grant as a party to it. But here the United States is not alleged or understood to have granted the charters of or to have any propletary interest in any of these railroads, or to have any other concern about them, in any respect involved here, but to have its prohibitory statutes for regulating commerce between the States respected and obeyed, the same as there against counterfeiting or tampering with the mails should be. Breaches of such statutes are misdemeanors punishable by indictment or information, and that merely such are not presentable in equity for relief by injunction shoulf have some right or interest in the subject of prevention, or be given express authority to proceed in that way by stantic. Authority is given to the Inter-State Commerce Commission to have proceedings for the enforcement of that law taken and prosecuted, but that is understand to refer to the usual and appropriate proceedings in such cases, and seems not to authorize any that are unknown there. The right priven here is to prosecute, but not to provide, remailes.

"If this is erroneous, only such agreements remedies.

"If this is erroneous, only such agreements are prohibited as are for the pooling of freights or dividing aggregate or net proceeds of earnings. So far as this agreement goes each road carries the freights it may get over its own line at it-own rates however fixed, and has the proceeds, net or other, of the earnings to itself. Very able-judicial opinions and learned commentances and disquisitions upon pooling, too numerous for separate notice herein, have been referred to, but none make it include what is left it wheily separate channels. Provision for referred to, but none make it include what is left in whelly separate channels. Provision for reasonable, although equal or proportional, rates for each carrier, or for a just and proportional rate for each carrier, or for a just and propor-tional division of traffic among carriers does not recent to be either a pooling of their traffic or freights or a division of the net proceeds of their earnings in any sense.

or freights of a division of the net proceeds of their carnings in any sense.

"This statement of reasons seems quite in-gdequate to the very full and able argument upon which this case has on each side been pre-sented; but these conclusions have been reached upon full consideration of all, so far as under-stood; and as they appear to be sufficient for the disposition of the case no more is attempted. The bill is dismissed."

the disposition of the case no more is attempted. The bill is dismissed."
United States District Attorney Macfarlane said, after he had heard the decision:
"Judge Wheeler's decision is but a preliminary step in the matter. There are questions of law involved which can only be conclusively acted upon by an appellate court, and I have no doubt the case will go to the United States supreme Court and will receive early consideration at its next session, the fall term."

"THE SWEARING PARSON" QUSTED. Van Blarcom Was Not at Home When the

HACKENSACK, May 28,-Sheriff Herring, Lawyer Mattiage of Jersey City, representing the Garneld Building and Loan Association, and ten constables went to Oakland to-day to dispossess James H. Van Blarcom, once famous as house, formerly a hotel, and forty acres of land was sold at foreclosure and bought in by the mortgagee, the Garfield Building and Loan mortgagee, the Garfield Bollding and Loan Association. Van Blarcom refused to give possession, and, after waiting six months, it was ecided to turn him out.

He was not at home when the officers called, and Mrs. Van Blarcom, with two grown daughters, barred the door. The door was battered down. Then the women wept and pleaded, but the lawver insisted that the household effects be removed. There were fourteen furnished be removed. There were fourteen furnished froms, and before the men could carry half the effects to another building across the atreet the grome ompelled them to stop. The three gomen left and two officers were placed in charge of the premises.

A few years ago Van Blarcom owned rich farms, a distillery, andia well-paying hotel.

Public Hackmen Complain of Hotel Hack-

Robert Winston and John H. Deacon, representatives of the Public Hackmen's Association, appeared before the Aldermen's Law Committee yesterday to ask them to frame a new ordiyesterday to ask them to frame a new ordinance, which will better prevent hotel hackmen from soliciting fares than the present ordinance does. At present hotel cabbies cannot take fares except those that come from the hotels in front of which they stand. The public cabbies say that the hotel men do not observe this ordinance. The Aldermen said they would look into the matter, but they thought the present ordinance was sufficient, if enforced.

ST. THOMAS'S NEW DAY NURSERY

Ballt at a Cost of $20,000 by Mrs. F. R. Haisey, ex.Gov. Flower's Niece,

Work is under way at 227 Fast Fifty-ninth street, a lot belonging to St. Thomas's Church, on a new day nursery to replace the old one that has been used for several years in connection with the east side ministration of the parish. The old building which has been torn down was a frame structure that formerly was occupied as a dwelling house. The new one is to be a building that has been especially designed for building that has been especially designed for the purposes of a nursery, and the sanitary and other arrangements will be of improved pattern. The building is the gift of Mrs. Frederick R. Halsey of 22 West Fifty-third street. She is in Tuxedo just now, but is to spend the summer abroad. The nursery, to build which she gave $20,000, will be ready for occupancy in the fail. It will accommodate about 100 children a day. The old one had room for only about thirty-five or forty a day. The benefits of the institution are not restricted to members of the parish, although it is primarily for their accommodation. The only requirement is cleanliness. The nursery teachings inculcate cleanliness of habit in all things, and the management demands that children shall be brought there clean. There is a kindergarien department attached to the nursery, which is conducted under the general direction of Mrs. Chester Griswold and the pastor of St. Thomas's, Dr. John Wesley Brown.

the paster of St. Indeed of Roswell P. Flower Hrown.

Mrs. Halsey is a niece of Roswell P. Flower The ex-Governor built the mission which the new nursery will adjoin as a memorial of his son, Henry Keep Flower, who died at the age of 18 years. The church, which forms one of the group of buildings, has a Sunday school with an attendance of 1,000.

HUMAN BONES EXHUMED.

A Coffin Plate Also Uncarthed in What Used to Be a Cometery.

Since the beginning of the extensive excavations for the foundation of two big new buildings at Wooster, Third and Fourth streets, a numbe ofbones have been dug up, including several skulls Last Saturday, James Marrin, the foreman in charge of the work, made a more in-

It consisted of a copper coffin plate bearing the inscription: "Laura Ransom, died Sept. 24. 1835, aged 23 years 11 months and 21 days."
Lying near were some fragments of the coffin, a woman's skull, and a few other bones.

The old residents of the neighborhood say that twenty-five or thirty years ago the corner of Wooster and Third streets was occupied by a graveyard, connected with a church on Third street. No one seems to remember what denomination the church was except that it was Protestant. About thirty years ago the church was torn down, and the bodies in the graveyard were transferred to a cemetery in Long Island City. A block of stables was built upon the property by A.T. Stewart. They remained therential the present improvements were undertaken. 1835, aged 23 years 11 months and 21 days.

Foreman Marrin is now on the lookout for the corner-stone of the church, which has not yet come to light.

PARKER WILL NOT RESIGN.

If the Mayor Wants to Bring Charges, All Mayor Strong waited just a week from the time he asked Police Commissioner Parker to resign before he received information from that official that he declines to get out of the Board and is ready to meet any charges which may be preferred against him. The Mayor would not say yesterday whother or not he has any charges to prefer against the Commissioner. Mr. l'arker was counsel to the old Greater New York Commission, and it was said yesterday that he is a candidate for counsel to the new Commission. The same authority that an-nounced his candidacy said that if he were ap-pointed counsel he would probably resign as Police Commissioner. Commissioner Parker said of this counselship:

"I will not discuss such a contingency till it arises."
This trouble in the Police Department has not diverted the Mayor's attention from the Fire Board. It was said yesterday that he will have a very plain talk with his Fire Commissioners in a few days, when it may be learned that other members of the Mayor's official family have been asked to resign.

THAT DANGEROUS "L" PILLAR. City Works Commissioner Willis of Brook lyn Will Remedy the Evil.

The Brooklyn authorities are going to take some action to stop the accidents constantly occurring at the foot of Fulton street because of the closeness of one of the elevated railroad pillars to the trolley-car tracks. During the present month a dozen or more persons have present month a duzen or more persons have been injured by contact with the pillar when getting on or off the cars. City Works Commissioner Theodore B. Willis said yesterday:

"I have heard of that fatal pillar and of all the accidents it has caused. This thing must be stopped, whether it is the elevated railroad company or the surface company which is to blame. Life cannot be endangered by the negligence of any person or corporation. Either the pillar must be removed to some other point or the trolley tracks must be shifted. I am having an investigation made, and soon traffic at this point will be made as safe as in any other part of the city."

The Memorial Day Parade.

George von Schack, the Grand Marshal of the G. A. R. for the Memorial Day parade, and Col. Philip S. Biglin, Chairman of the Memorial Committee, were in consultation yesterday morning with Lieut. Hugo Osterhaus, Flag Lieutenant N. A. Station, and Lieut. William F. Fullam, U. S. N., the representatives of Admiral Bunce, regarding the part to be taken by miral Bunce, regarding the part to be taken, by the sailors from the fleet in the Memorial Pay parade. The sailors will form in line on East Fifteeth street and Fifth avenue. The landing will be made at West Fiftieth street. The line of march will be directly down Fifth avenue to the Washington arch, where the line will be dismissed. A marching sailte will be given to the reviewing officer at the Worth monument stand and to the Marshal at the arch. The sail-ors will march directly after the regular troops, who will head the line.

THEFT TAUGHT BY THEIR MOTHER. Mrs. Boanth Arrested for Instignting Hor Little Baughters to Steal.

Rachael and Rosa Donath and Lena Rangat, the three little pickpockets who were arrested in Central Park on Sunday, were arraigned in Yorkville Court yesterday and held in $300 ball each. They are 11, 12, and 13 years old. With them was arraigned Mrs. Kate Donath, the mother of the first two, who was charged with instigating the thieving and receiving the stolen articles. She was held in $500 ball. When the children were first arrested and turned over to the Gerry society, Agent Schmidt fecided that some one must be behind them in their wrongdoing. He could get nothing out of Rachael Donath, who refused to talk when caught in the act of picking another girl's pocket. The other two girls seemed to be able to do nothing but cry. At length the Rangat girl told him that Rachael, while in Tompkins square with her, stole a pocketbook and carried t to her mother. She also told Schmidt that the Donaths formerly light at 322 Fast Houston street. He made inquiries in that neighborhood, and discovered that it was a matter of street. He made incurries in that neighborhood, and discovered that it was a matter of common report that the Donath girls had more money than they could account for.

Max Haupt, a saleon keeper at 316 East Houston street, told him that six weeks ago he caught Rachael Donath going out of his place with his cash drawer in her lands. When these matters were brought to Mrs. Donath's notice, the neighbors told Mr. Schmidt, shedid not reprimand the children, but abused their accusers and declared the children innocent.

Mrs. Donath is a Hungarian Jewess, 47 years old. Her husband is a peddler. In answer to Magistrate Crane's questions yesterday, she declared that she never knew of her children's thieving. She knew that they had money, but made nie effort to find out where they got it.

Rachael Donath was as sollenly deflant as ever when she was brought into court. She sought to shield her sister and to Implicate the other little girl, whom, she said, she told, when she asked her to go to Ceutrai Park, that her purpose was to take pocketbooks.

"Who put you up to doing this?" asked Magistrate Crane.

Rachael half turned toward her mother who "Who put you up to doing this?" asked Mag-istrate Crane.

Hachael half turned toward her mother who was standing some distance behind her, and then answered. No one. Repeated questioning falled to bring out any other answer.

The three little girls and the mother will all have to stand trial in Special Sessions.

SHE PROSECUTES HER EX-LOYER. Once Threatened to Shoot Mr. Townsend If the Trial Was Delayed Further.

Rebecca Shansky, who says Harry Solomon assaulted her, told her story before Judge Mc-Mahon and a jury in the General Sessions yesterday. The alleyed assault occurred over two years ago, while, according to her story, they were engaged to be married. She has a child. Ever since Solomon's indictment Miss Shanky has been clamoring for a trial of the case. She even threatened to shoot Assistant District Attorney Townsend last August if the case was not brought to trial. He prosecuted yesterday. Miss Shansky gave her version of the assault in a very dramatic manner. She says that on their way to her home in Henry street from a Brooklyn theatre on bec. 1, 1893, he induced her to go into his clothing store, at 122 Park row, saying that he wanted to get $300 that he had left in the safe. She went in the store, and they walked to the rear, where a solitary gas jet was burning near the safe. There he turned and selzed her, and she became unconscious. Later he took her home. Several months later she complained to the authorities, and he was indicted. Solomon never called on her after the alleged assault. Attorney Townsend last August if the case was indicted. Solomon never called on her after the alleged assault.

Judge Goldfogle cross-examined the witness. He read two letters which she had written to Solomon, one of which provoked an outburst of laughter, the court and complainant joining in. It was written on October, 1891, and said: You have shown yourself such a good nurse in taking care of your sore hand that I hope you will be able to nurse a baby. Experience is the best teacher. The witness explained that she had nothing else to write about, and just dashed off the first thing that happened to come into her mind.

STOLE $2,000 WORTH OF GOODS.

A Postal Card Written in Hebrew Leads On Wednesday afternoon Superintendent Jalliet of the clock manufacturing house of Pellar Bros. of 305 Canal street received a postal card covered with what looked to him like unintelligible hieroglyphics. He showed it to some of the workmen, who informed him that the card was found and the writing was translated. It robbed by Abraham Berg and Moses Lampal. rooped by Abraham Berg and Moses Lampas, two of the mon employed in the establishment. In company with a detective from the Macdougal street station the superintendent visited the homes of the two men and found about $100 worth of material belonging to the firm. The men were at once arrested, and yesterday they were arraigned in Jefferson Market Court on a charge of petit larceny.

were arraighted in Jefferson Market Court on a charge of petil larceny.
Superintendent Jailiet said that the firm had lost over $2,000 in goods, but that he would enter a charge of petil larceny only, as each of the men had a family of five children and he didn't want to be hard on them. Another tailor named Magyer, who was supposed to be concerned in the thefts, could not be found by the police yesterday.
